

Language of Conservation

To find all the conservation messages for our Language of Conservation installation, follow the clues below. Extra Hint – The clues are in order as you walk through the Zoo. Answer with the location of the poem.

- 1) Look up soon, or you'll miss the first poem. _____
- 2) Whooooo guards the exit to the River Valley Aviary? _____
- 3) Give me a home...where the Rhinos roam... _____
- 4) Can you remember which animal is the largest in the Zoo? _____
- 5) Which one's next? Anyone care to vulture...I mean venture...a guess? _____
- 6) Where does the mane man in the Zoo live? Simba might know. _____
- 7) Turn into Savanna Bloom at your first chance and watch out for the snake! _____
- 8) The Savanna is beautiful this time of year. Why don't you take a seat under the arbor and enjoy the views?

- 9) It shouldn't be a stretch to find this next poem, located where the tallest animals in the Zoo call home.

- 10) Our local NFL team might like this big cat exhibit. _____
- 11) For the next poem, you have to ssstay in SSSSouth America and visssit a sssometimes SSSSpooky Temple.

- 12) Before you leave the Range of the Jaguar, you otter visit the River Valley Aviary. _____
- 13) Take a seat by the fountain in The Gardens of Trout River to find some interesting reading.

- 14) You'll find the next poem if you go on a walkabout with your little joey. _____
- 15) Don't croak, you're halfway done! You can find the next two poems side-by-side where the amphibians reside. _____
- 16) See above! _____
- 17) If you took a boat here today, you might have already seen this poem. If not, take a seat on the dock and see if you're inspired. _____
- 18) Onward to Asia, but first take one more look at the lovely river... _____
- 19) Asia at last! Now, sit a while in the shade and watch the koi. _____
- 20) The pandas near the next poem don't eat bamboo, although there is plenty of it around. _____
- 21) You'll have to make your way past two dragons in order to spot the next poem. _____
- 22) Where are the whales that don't breath and the manatee that doesn't move? _____
- 23) No monkeying around now, we're getting toward the end. This next clue is in a cave with no bats.

- 24) Tim Teabow fans might like this exhibit... _____
- 25) The garden that holds the next clue could be very transformative...if you were a caterpillar...

- 26) Look up high before we say goodbye to find the last clue. If you still can't find it, do a 180 from the start of your journey. _____

Name: _____ Telephone number: _____
Address: _____ City: _____ State: _____ Zip: _____

Mail this completed form to:

Marketing Department
Jacksonville Zoo and Gardens
370 Zoo Parkway
Jacksonville, FL 32218

There is no purchase necessary to enter or win. One winner will be drawn weekly. You must get all answers correct to win. Drawings will end May 31, 2010. Winners will be notified by telephone. Only one prize will be given to a household. Go to jacksonvillezoo.org for more information.